Rolyn's New Disaster Response Mobile Command Center

Rockville, MD, August 8, 2010: Rolyn Companies, Inc. announces that it recently added a mobile command center to its fleet. This state-of-the-art mobile command center is self-powered and equipped with communications capabilities and work stations for coordinating disaster response efforts onsite when power and communications may not be available. Prior to a named storm making landfall, the mobile command center will stage in a safe, nearby location along with Rolyn's other equipment and personnel for immediate mobilization. Additionally, the unit will also respond to other catastrophic local events such as the floods that hit Nashville in May.

Mark Futrovsky, Rolyn's president commented, "Our mobile command center enhances our national response capabilities during major disaster events. In addition to our large inventory of company-owned equipment, this mobile command center furthers Rolyn's capabilities to be there when it counts most for our clients."
